Henderson Cowboys (6-0) VS Las Vegas Union (6-0) – 7U

Where: Bonanza High School

When: 10:45 AM

The Henderson Cowboys and Las Vegas Union faceoff in the Las Vegas Bowl Game of the Week at Bonanza High School this Saturday morning. This game was an easy choice as these two teams both sit at an amazing 6-0 entering this contest. The winner of this game will secure not only a perfect regular season, but also the top spot in the division heading into the playoffs. The Henderson Cowboys are the defending Nevada State Champions and have certainly played up to expectations thus far this season. The cowboys feature the divisions top offense and defense in the league thus far. The Cowboys offense is averaging over 30 points a contest which is certainly impressive. However, it's the Cowboys defense that has really been the star this season, as they have yet to give up a point to their opponents in their 6 victories. Led by Jashawn Crayton, Caden Cadval, and Ayden Lujan, this Cowboys team is full of sheriffs that are hungry to lasso in the Union. The Union meanwhile are an equally impressive team as they also come into this contest with a perfect 6-0 record. The Union offense and defense rank second in the division and are equally impressive. The Union offense averages over 27 points a game while the defense gives up just 1 point per contest! That's right, the Union defense has given up just 1 score all season long. Between these two teams, points should come at a premium if these two defenses are as on point as they have been all season long. The Union will hope that Frank Starks, Terrell Collins, and Kareem Knox can lead their offense to put up some points on the stingy Cowboys defense. This should be a thriller, so expect both teams to play their best this weekend!
